

Abstract

The present invention provides a novel modular building system exhibiting superior strength to withstand seismic activity.